*****BREAKING NEWS*****

On the Roam for 2 days in Coral Springs, Florida.
Ari is now SAFE & HOME!!! Here is Ari's story...

About three years ago I made one of the best decisions of my life and I adopted the sweetest little puppy-girl in the whole world. I bonded immediately on the site and since then our bond has only gotten stronger. You wouldn't think that type of relationship could be possible with the dog... But it really can. She is my child and my heart.

And I have many routines on a daily basis and last Tuesday I found it very odd that when I approached my front door I had not heard Ari whine or scratch— which is the norm for her. It had been thundering & lightning all day long and I was looking forward to getting home to her to offer her comfort. As I unlocked and entered my apartment Ari didn't come running. I called out for her and she didn't respond at all. I began wandering around my apartment trying to find her... I mean I was even opening cabinets. I was looking inside places I knew could never possibly accommodate her. I felt like I was having a bad dream... I couldn't figure out how someone could get into my apartment, take my dog and then lock the door behind them. I really started to freak out at this point; how had she gotten out!?

I began to panic and started dialing and googling every possible person that I could think of to figure out how to get her back. All of a sudden it dawned on me to call Jamie. She was very very quick to react and gathered important details and information in a very calm and controlled way and even calmed me down. It was impressive knowing how well she handles these sort of situations.

As hard as it was to hear, she advised me to wait till morning because it was raining and very dark outside for her dogs to come out. When I awoke the next morning – or – open my eyes because I never truly was able to sleep, I received a message through Facebook asking me to call ASAP because there were certain codes that had to be followed in order to hang signs in order to find my dog. I ran into a ridiculous amount of red tape from the signs I put up and got transferred from department to department trying to find the person that would allow me to hang the signs-which was the advice given to me by Jamie.

After many failed attempts I called Jamie. In under an hour she was at my door with her tracking dogs (Gable and Fletcher) ready to go with her game face on. She was organized, well prepared and calmly explained how the process would go and what exactly I needed to do. We entered my apartment and immediately Jamie knew how Ari had gotten out. She was so scared of the storm outside that she literally clawed a hole through my second floor outside patio screen and jumped! After that we went back down to her truck and Fletcher began his search.

Because of her efforts and expertise as well as that of the Coral Springs Humane Unit, I was reunited with my Ari in under an hour from the time of Jamie's arrival. She saw the process all the way through making sure that Ari and I were both okay.

I consider Jamie Katz to be a hero. She reunites owners and their pets (best friends) back together after traumatic and accidental separation- she reunites families. Jamie is the real thing, a professional and a knowledgeable Private Investigator specializing in lost pets. My gratitude to her for all that she does and continues to do is unending!

I would recommend Jamie to any and every person who happens to need assistance in finding their lost pet! She is fantastic!

With many thanks & puppy kisses-
